TCA 6: COURT REPORTERS. (a) Each judicial administrative district shall develop a policy governing the following procedures:

- (1) determining when official court reporters are available for assignment to other courts because a court will not be in session by reason of a cancellation, change of schedule or absence of the judge;
- (2) recording instances of substitute court reporter assignments, whether official or freelance; and
- (3) advising the district court administrator of arrangements reporters make between themselves for short-term, urgent assistance, obtaining prior approval if required by district policy.

These procedures shall be approved by the chief judge and implemented by the district court administrator.

(b) When a court commissioner acts in the absence of the circuit judge, the official court reporter in that branch or any other reporter assigned by the chief judge shall be responsible for making the court record. When a record is required for any other court commissioner hearing, it is the responsibility of the county to provide a means of making a record. A county may request assistance in the form of an official state court reporter if unanticipated absences, emergencies, unexpected equipment failure or other extraordinary circumstances would result in the cancellation of the court commissioner proceeding. Such requests shall be granted and coordinated by the district court administrator as court reporter availability permits. Equally, county court reporters are expected to assist in circuit court under the same criteria.

(c) Whenever it appears necessary to provide assistance to a real-time reporter so that reasonable accommodations may be made under the Americans with Disabilities Act, the chief judge shall assign additional reporters. Assistance may take the form of one reporter making the record and the other providing real-time, or by having the reporters spell each other while providing real-time and making the record simultaneously. The chief judge shall take into consideration the overall circumstances, the experience of the reporters, and the preferences of the trial judge in determining the appropriate assistance.
